LAW AND AMENDMENT

T N Godavarman Case and Definition of Forest

- The Supreme Court of India recently directed governments to adopt a 'broad' definition of forests, emphasizing the Forest (Conservation) Act, 1980.
- Enacted to safeguard forests and resources, the Act's Section 2 defines 'forest land' broadly, encompassing reserved, protected, or government-recorded areas.
- The landmark TN Godavarman Thirumalpad vs Union of India, (1996) case reinforced this, interpreting 'forest' in line with its dictionary meaning.
- The Act applies to all areas resembling a forest, prioritizing conservation efforts across statutorily recognized forests in India.
- The issue of 'definition of forest' in India has the implications on forest conservation, rights of indigenous communities, and economic development.
- It is crucial that any changes to the definition of 'forest' are made with careful consideration of their potential impacts on India's rich biodiversity, the livelihoods of forest-dependent communities, and the country's commitments to climate change mitigation.

Diamond Jubilee of the Supreme Court

- The Supreme Court of India (SC) recently marked its Diamond Jubilee Celebration (75th anniversary) at the Supreme Court Auditorium in Delhi, coinciding with the 75th anniversary of the Indian Constitution.
- The event witnessed the launch of several citizen-centric information and technology initiatives aimed at enhancing judicial accessibility and transparency.
- Digital initiatives, including the Digital Supreme Court Reports (Digi SCR) and Digital Courts 2.0 and a revamped SC website were launched as a part of the event.
- The Digital Supreme Court Reports (Digi SCR) initiative aims to provide free, electronic access to Supreme Court judgments since 1950, fostering transparency and accessibility.
- Digital Courts 2.0, leveraging AI for real-time transcription of court proceedings, represents a significant leap towards efficient record-keeping and judicial processes.
- The revamped Supreme Court website, available in bilingual format (English and Hindi), offers a user-friendly interface for seamless access to judicial information.
- Efforts to enhance accessibility to justice, particularly in remote areas, were emphasised, with a focus on expanding the reach of the Supreme Court.
- Investments in physical infrastructure, such as the expansion of the Supreme Court Building Complex, were also highlighted as crucial steps towards bolstering judicial efficiency.

Uttarakhand becomes the first state to pass a Uniform Civil Code Bill.

- The Uniform Civil Code (UCC), Uttarakhand, Bill 2024, has been passed by the legislative assembly.
- It will govern and regulate the laws related to marriage and divorce, succession, live-in relationships, and matters related to it.
- Now, Uttarakhand will have a common law on marriage, divorce, land, property and inheritance for all citizens, irrespective of their religion.
- The Uniform Civil Code will not apply to the Scheduled Tribes of the state.
- Key features of Uttarakhand's Uniform Civil Code:

“CURRENT AFFAIR”

- Marriage and divorce practices that come under Muslim Personal Law such as halala, iddat, and triple talaq have been banned.
- The legal age for marriage has been kept to 21 years for men and 18 years for women.
- Couples in a live-in relationship have to submit a “statement of live-in relationship” to the concerned Registrar.
- If they have spent a month without submitting such a statement, they can face a jail term of up to three months or a maximum fine of Rs 10,000, or both.
- The Bill abolished the concept of “illegitimate children”. The new law extends legal recognition to children born in void and voidable marriages.
- It explicitly bans bigamy and polygamy in the state and lists five conditions for the solemnisation of marriages.
- Marriages that occur after the enactment of the Bill have to be compulsorily registered.

Centre has amended Surrogacy (Regulation) Rules, 2022.

- It has permitted couples with medical conditions to use donor gametes.
- It has been notified that if a couple is verified to have a medical issue, then none of the gametes needs to be from a married pair.
- The most recent amendment states that the couple may use surrogacy to conceive a child, but they will need to have at least one gamete from the intended partner.
- According to the notification, single women (widows or divorcees) undergoing surrogacy must use donor sperm and self-eggs.
- Couples undergoing surrogacy were required by previous regulations to obtain both of the intended couple's gametes.
- The District Medical Board will certify if either husband or wife suffers from medical condition that requires use of donor gamete.
- A lady with a rare congenital condition was previously permitted to use donor eggs for surrogacy by the Supreme Court.
- In March 2023, the Centre issued a notification that prohibited donor gametes for couples intending to undergo surrogacy.
- In surrogacy, a woman carries a foetus and gives birth to a baby for someone else. The woman does so without having any parental rights on the child.

Center presented a new bill introduced in Lok Sabha to curb exam malpractice.

- On 5 February, a bill was introduced by the government in Lok Sabha that seeks to do away with malpractices and irregularities in competitive examinations, with provisions for a maximum jail term of 10 years and a fine up to ₹1 crore.
- Union Minister Jitendra Singh introduced the Public Examinations (Prevention of Unfair Means) Bill, 2024.
- The bill was introduced after the cancellation of a series of competitive exams.
- It includes the teacher recruitment exam in Rajasthan, CET for Group-D posts in Haryana, the recruitment exam for junior clerks in Gujarat, and the constable recruitment examination in Bihar, following question paper leaks.
- The Bill envisages bringing greater transparency, fairness, and credibility in public examination systems and assuring the youth that their honest efforts will be appropriately rewarded and their future is secure.
- Objective of the Bill:
- The bill aims to take action against organized gangs, mafia elements, and people indulging in malpractices without targeting students. Government officials found guilty will also not be spared.
- The Bill seeks to constitute a high-level National Technical Committee on Public Examinations which will make recommendations to make the computerized examination process more secure.
- The committee will develop protocols for insulating digital platforms, formulate ways and means to develop fool proof IT security systems and ensure electronic monitoring of examination centers.
- This also includes creating national standards and services for both IT and physical infrastructure to be deployed for the conduct of competitive examinations.
- To prevent nefarious elements from using impersonation methods and indulging in paper leaks and other malpractices.

“CURRENT AFFAIR”

A new name has been allotted by ECI to the Sharad Pawar faction.

- On 7 February, the Sharad Pawar-led party was officially named 'Nationalist Congress Party-Sharadchandra Pawar' by the Election Commission.
- The Sharad Pawar faction submitted three name preferences for their party in compliance with the directions of the Election Commission of India.
- In order of preference, the proposed names were “Nationalist Congress Party – Sharadchandra Pawar”, “Nationalist Congress Party – Sharadrao Pawar”, and “NCP -- Sharad Pawar.”
- This faction had also asked for the election symbol 'banyan tree' for itself.
- The poll panel approved the official name for his group/faction, allowing the upcoming elections for six Rajya Sabha seats in Maharashtra.
- In July 2023, the NCP had split from Sharad Pawar's nephew and senior leader Ajit Pawar and joined the Eknath Shinde-led government along with eight party MLAs.
- On February 6, the ECI officially recognized Ajit Pawar's faction as the Nationalist Congress Party (NCP).
- The EC said that the faction led by the Petitioner, Sh Ajit Anantrao Pawar, is the Nationalist Congress Party (NCP) and is entitled to use its name.
- NCP is entitled to use its reserved symbol "clock" for the purposes of the Election Symbols (Reservation and Allotment) Order, 1968.

- The Bill will amend the Constitution (Jammu and Kashmir) Scheduled Castes Order of 1956.

Electoral bond scheme for political funding declared “unconstitutional” by the Supreme Court

- In a landmark judgment on February 15, Chief Justice of India DY Chandrachud said the scheme was arbitrary and violated citizens' right to information.
- A five-judge Constitution bench of the Supreme Court struck down the electoral bond scheme, which allowed anonymous donations to political parties.

"CURRENT AFFAIR"

- On January 2, 2018, the electoral bond scheme launched by the government was seen as a solution to replace cash donations and increase transparency in political funding.
- The Supreme Court said that this scheme violates the right to information of the citizens, thereby affecting the freedom of speech and expression under Article 19(1)(a) of the Constitution.
- Chief Justice Chandrachud, while striking down the scheme introduced through the Finance Act, 2017, said information about the funding of political parties is essential for the effective exercise of voting choice.
- The electoral bonds Issuer bank, the State Bank of India (SBI), has been ordered to submit details of the political parties that have received electoral bonds since 2019 to the Election Commission of India (ECI) by March 6, 2024.
- ECI has also been asked to publish such details on its official website.
- The Supreme Court also struck down the amendments made to the Income Tax Act and the Representation of the People Act, which had made donations anonymous.
- The judgment also said that the amendment to the Companies Act allowing blanket corporate political funding was "unconstitutional".
- Before the amendment to the Companies Act in 2017, loss-making companies in India were not allowed to make contributions.
- Furthermore, the Supreme Court said that the electoral scheme would help the political party that is in power.
